

Intuitive Communication With Your Babys Soul

In this book, you will learn tools and techniques to assist you with developing intuitive two-way communication with your unborn or newborn baby. At 41 years old, I became pregnant with my daughter Mecca. Before I even went to the doctor, I knew something was off. I was only a few days late with my cycle, but I looked like I was 3-4 months pregnant. Turns out I had a couple of large fibroid tumors, one of which was at the base of my uterus. The doctors prognosis for me was pretty dire: I'd be bedridden for most of my pregnancy, Mecca would be born 3 months premature, and I would have a C-section. I created a partnership with my unborn daughter to navigate my high-risk pregnancy and carry her full-term without being bedridden. How? I talked to my daughter telepathically and she answered back. You will learn the methods that I used to assist me with this process: I'll teach you how to ground yourself, give you exercises to develop your intuition, guide you through a meditation to open your chakras and connect with your baby intuitively, and give you tips to develop a deep spiritual bond with your baby.

We've started our countdown to National Handbag Day on October 10, and that means we'll have special features for you every day, right up to the big event! Today, we're here to talk about the intersection of celebrity and accessories, and more specifically, how the two can become intertwined in public consciousness for years. The kinds of stars who carry a particular bag do a lot to shape the market's perception of it and the designer who created it, which is why so many brands give out free bags to stars now: they're hoping to create positive associations. In the cases you see below, though, things came along a little bit more naturally. You can't rush love, after all. Think of a bag-celeb duo we missed? Let us know in the comments!
