

Cancer Coaster: One Womans Experience of Stage III Ovarian Cancer

Ellen was living her life in beautiful Southern California when her husband was laid off after 17 years with the same company. Knowing that the insurance coverage would soon run out, they both went in for check ups with their respective Doctors. Ellens Gynecologist found a 5-1/2 INCH sized tumor on her right ovary.

Blood work showed cancer; for certain; and the roller-coaster ride began. Written in diary format this book is one womans experience of the struggles, the ups and downs of what cancer does to you as a person, as a family and as a community of support. There is a 24 page Appendix which includes practical questions that you might not now know that you need to ask, NOW, along with prayers, positive affirmations and meditations . The Appendix includes information that Ellen wishes she knew before her ups and downs.

For Caregivers, Spouses, Cancer patients and Medical Professionals, this book provides insight into the mind of a survivor on the precipice... on the roller-coaster ride called Cancer.

We've started our countdown to National Handbag Day on October 10, and that means we'll have special features for you every day, right up to the big event! Today, we're here to talk about the intersection of celebrity and accessories, and more specifically, how the two can become intertwined in public consciousness for years. The kinds of stars who carry a particular bag do a lot to shape the market's perception of it and the designer who created it, which is why so many brands give out free bags to stars now: they're hoping to create positive associations. In the cases you see below, though, things came along a little bit more naturally. You can't rush love, after all. Think of a bag-celeb duo we missed? Let us know in the comments!
